SPSP Medicines Stakeholder Exchange

Thursday 8 February 2018

COSLA, Conference Centre, Haymarket, Edinburgh

AS part of Healthcare Improvement Scotland's ihub, SPSP activities support the provision of safe, high quality care, whatever the setting.

Thank you to all our delegates for a great SPSP Medicines Stakeholder Exchange  on 8 February 2018 at COSLA.

#SPSP10 #SPSPMeds

We took the opportunity to acknowledge:

- ❖ the incredible achievements during the previous 10 years of the Scottish Patient Safety Programme,
- ❖ the progress in respect of safety of medicines from SPSP Medicines, and
- ❖ the amazing commitment from our colleagues past, present and future.

Medicines in a complex system

Rhona Moyes, who is a clinical nurse specialist with Marie Curie, delivered an inspiring perspective at the start of our day.

Joanne Matthews, Chair

Joanne, Head of Safety & Improvement in Healthcare Improvement Scotland, gave a warm welcome to delegates from Scottish NHS Boards, Health and Social Care Partnerships and other key stakeholders. There was interaction from the outset and we are very grateful to our colleague, Jill Gillies, for her unusual 'Bingo' icebreaker that had everyone talking!

What matters to us?

Arvind Veiraiah, our SPSP Medicines National Clinical Lead, asked delegates to discuss what matters to them.

Delegates were delighted to take part.

Levers for change...

The request from David Maxwell, Improvement Advisor at Healthcare Improvement Scotland, led to lots of ideas!!!
