

Learning Disability Day Support National Learning Event May 2022

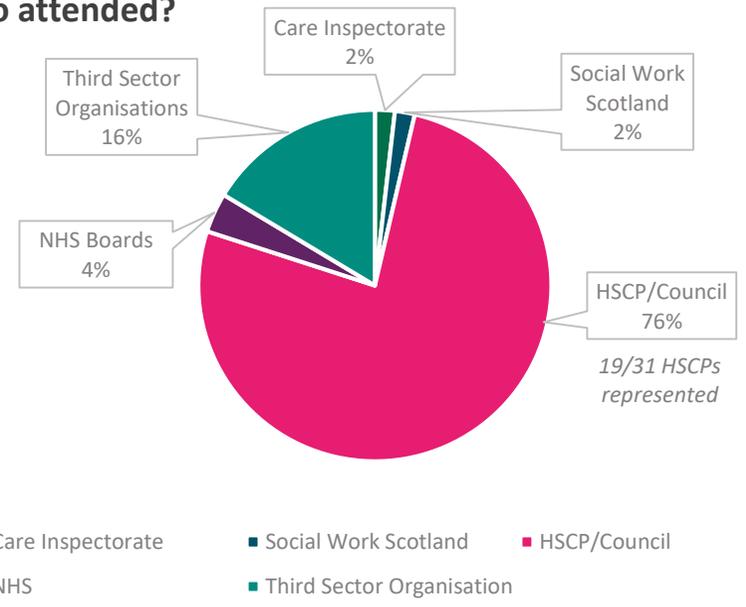

Event background

The People-Led Care Team hosted a National Learning Event during Learning Disability Week as part of the New Models for Learning Disability Day Support Collaborative.

We are now in phase 3 of the Collaborative, working with project teams from Falkirk HSCP, North Ayrshire HSCP and Perth & Kinross HSCP to apply a service design approach to the design and delivery of learning disability day support services.

Through National Learning Events we share progress and interface with the wider health and social care system.

Who attended?

What we delivered

- We presented feedback and learning from phase 2 of the Collaborative and how this will shape changes in the current phase.
- We sought input from other HSCPs and stakeholders and outlined the opportunities for connectivity in phase 3.
- We extended an offer to stakeholders for sharing the tools and approaches we have tested and developed.

Learning Disability Day Support National Learning Event May 2022

Our guest presenters

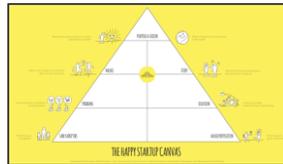

We were pleased to welcome speakers from the Perth & Kinross HSCP Project Team on their team formation and how they have involved people and from colleagues in the Collaborative Commissioning Programme on the application of Human Learning Systems.

Perth & Kinross HSCP Project Team – Team formation and involvement

We heard from Gillian Charleson and Paul Booth who shared their team-building focus and challenges and the team's launch video

Key points

- The Happy Start-up Canvas provides a useful tool to form your teams' purpose vision and values
- Time for plan for and carry out discover activity cannot be underestimated
- Navigating data privacy and GDPR policy and processes can add further delays – start the process early

Collaborative Commissioning Programme – Human Learning Systems

We heard from Des McCart and Karen McNeill on how a Human Learning approach can return greater value and real outcomes for people who access services.

Key points

- HLS provides an answer to the 'how' of transforming health and social care
- A paradigm shift in public management – in the purpose of management
- Results in better (real) outcomes and lower costs
